

Gods and Goddesses Playing Cards

Name : _____ Hour : _____

Assigned Character _____

Directions :

1. Research your assigned god, goddess, demi-god or monster. Use at least three different sources so that you can corroborate the information.
2. Make your notes below in the empty space (you may also use the back of this paper) so that your teacher can see what information you are working with.
3. Draw a picture of your character in the space provided on the playing card. Include objects that are associated with your character and will help your audience identify your character.
4. You must truly know about your character before you can give a comic twist to their attributes. Do not cut corners and begin getting creative without first having the background knowledge. True comedy is based on understanding and the ability to play with ideas for which you have a great understanding.
5. Fill in the following information:

What was the origin of your character, ie. parents or how were they created?

Are they mortal or immortal? Are they a god, monster, demi-god or human.

What do they look like? Any unusual physical attributes?

What domain, if any, are they associated with?

Find and write down stories about your character.

Gods and Goddesses Series

Introducing :

Your Name : _____ Hr. _____

Vital Statistics

Vital Statistics about _____

Where did he/she come from :

Occupation :

Biggest flame :

Most embarrassing moment :

Famous saying or famous last words :

Favorite Pastime or Hobby :